SAFETY MOMENT

NOVEMBER – PREVENTING FLU IN THE WORKPLACE

Flu season is upon us. Most flu activity peaks between December and February, though it can last as late into the spring. Flu symptoms often mimic cold symptoms, making it hard to identify at the onset of symptoms. But the flu is far more severe, as it attacks the body more quickly and is often accompanied by fever. Recovering from the flu can take anywhere from a few days to a couple weeks, or longer.

Preventing Flu in the Workplace:

1. Promote handwashing through posters
2. Clean all surfaces and objects before touching them
3. Arrange for a flu clinic at the office
4. Educate workers on flu signs and symptoms
5. Revisit your corporate wellness program
